Dear Lynda

Thank you for all your help and information regarding Energy Star Dirtguard IR Elastic paint

We used this paint on the two-storey western wall of our single thickness concrete-channel Rapid Wall construction dwelling. This wall has very little thermal quality and, consequently, previous to painting, the heat was concentrated and intensified internally, so that 40 degrees outside translated to even higher temperatures inside.

We completed the two-coat paint application and the difference has been impressive. Inside this building now feels as though it has the insulating quality of a double wall construction and the temperature, even in a heat wave, is now bearable and manageable. Since this house is part of the Community Housing Sector, where many houses have been built to a price and where occupants may suffer similar problems to those mentioned, we have no hesitation in highly recommending this product.

With thanks
